T.P.I.C. COUNCIL MEETING

DECEMBER 5 - 6, 1969

The President welcomed Mr. J. Oliver, the newly appointed representative of the Atlantic Planners' Institute.

Council received and accepted with regret the resignation of Councillor Claude Langlois.

Most Operation Round-Up applicants recommended for admission having been considered at previous Council Meetings, Council proceeded to a "Wind-Up" of Round-Up, reviewing the Committee's general recommendations and referring to the Interim National Membership Committee the task of reporting on procedures to be used in the cases of applicants recommended for Provisional Membership under the amended By-laws.

The Committee on the Future of the Institute, the Committee on the Training of Planning Technicians, and the Committee on Professional Practice, amongst others, were also called upon by Council to take part in the "Wind-Up" to insure that insight and experience gained through Round-Up be used to maximum advantage. It is expected that the Committee on the Future of the Institute, under the Chairmanship of Mr. John Bower will have for consideration with Council, at a joint meeting scheduled for February 27, a report covering most aspects of Institute activities and areas of concern.

The Committee is not expected to propose solutions to all of the problems, but it will undoubtedly trace their inter-locking nature and suggest ways of tackling them within a framework of well defined purposes.

Action was also taken on the questions of Development of a greater understanding of Environmental issues and of the Institute's Presence on Public Issues, Messrs. M. Bacon and J. Oliver having been requested to further articulate their A.G.M. motion on the first of these questions, Mr. G. Farry to elaborate on his comments to Council on Federal Policy re: Urban Problems, in the form of a statement to be submitted for consideration by Council in February, and Mr. M. V. Jones having agreed to explore the possibility of obtaining assistance in preparing an Institute statement on Mr. Benson's New Tax Proposals.

In conformity with By-law requirements, a Nominating Committee was appointed under the Chairmanship of Mr. L. Kentridge, composed of Messrs. R. Archambault, D. M. Buchanan, A. M. Campbell, T. Jellineck and Miss Wendy Wright as a Student Member.

The following Committee appointments were also approved:

Long Term Publications Policy Committee: Mr. B. Wiesman as Chairman, and Mesers. G. Farry and N. Pearson, with Messrs. G. Hodge, L. Gertler and Murray Zides as consulting members.

Le nouveau représentant de l'Institut d'Urbanisme des Provinces Atlantiques, M. Jon Oliver, fut acceuilli par le Président.

La démission de M. Claude Langlois, membre du Conseil, fut reçue et acceptée à regret.

Le Conseil ayant terminé, au cours de ses réunion precédentes, l'examen de la plupart des demandes d'admission a l'Institut, reçues en vertu du mandat spécial confié au Comité de l'Opération Rassemblement, le "Dénouement" de l'Operation fut amorcé, le Conseil revoyant les recommendations générales du Comité et confiant au Comité National d'Admission Intérimaire le soin d'élaborer les procédures selon lesquelles pourront être revues les demandes d'admission reportées jusqu'à la création de la classe de Membre Provisoire prévue aux réglements généraux amendês.

Le Comité sur l'Avenir de l'Institut, le Comité de Formation des Techniciens en Urbanisme, et le comité de Pratique de la Profession furent aussi appelés à participer au "Dénouement", afin d'assurer une transmission maximale de l'information et de l'expérience acquises grâce à l'Opération Rassemblement. Le Comité sur l'Avenir de l'Institut que préside M. John Bower, doit soumettre au Conseil, au cours d'une réunion conjointe prévue pour le 27 février prochain, un rapport qui touchera sans doute la majorité des activité et des préoccupations de l'Institut. Quioqu'on ne puisse s'attendre à ce qu'il trouve remède à tous les maux, ce Comité, par ses travaux, sera certainement en mesure d'identifier les zones à éxaminer, et de proposer des mesures qui permettront d'acheminer, dane le contexte d'un programme d'objectifs, bien définis, les solutions.

La "sensibilisation aux problèmes relatifs à l'environnement" et "l'engagement de l'Institut en matières d'interêt public" ayant été l'objet de résolutions particulières au cours de la dernière Assemblée Générale, MM. Bacon et J. Oliver furent priés par le Conseil d'étudier les moyens les plus aptes à susciter une appréciation plus vive et plus générale des problèmes relatifs à l'environment; M. G. Farry fut prié d'amplifier ses commentaires relatifs aux politiques fédérales en matiéres d'urbanisation, alors que M. M. V. Jones se vit confier le soin de la préparation d'un exposé préliminaire des vues de l'Institut sur les nouveaux systèmes de taxation préconisés par M. Benson. Ces travaux seront revus par le Conseil au cours de sa réunion de février.

Conformément aux éxigences des réglements généraux, un comité de Nomination fut formé sous la présidence de M. L. Kentridge, auquel furent adjoints MM. R. Archambault, D. M. Buchanan, A. M. Campbell, T. Jellineck, ainsi que Melle. Wendy Wright, Membre Etudiant.

MAY - 6 1970

Committee on Training of Planning Technicians: Mr. Hans Foerstel, added to the complement.

Interim National Membership Committee: Mr. B. Wiesman, representing the Canadian Committee of Planning Schools; under the Chairmanship of Mr. Eli Comay, this Committee now includes Messrs. Don Buchanan, Gerald Hodge, Jonas Lehrmans, Maurice Lloyd and Brahm Wiesman.

Council was informed by Mr. G. A. P. Carrothers that the University of York's Environmental Studies Archives had received from Mrs. Jean Milner, for safekeeping, the late Mr. Milner's library and Biographical History on Urban Planning.

Reports and information were also received concerning:

—The Nuffield Foundation's New Canadian Seminars Programme, which information was subsequently circulated to the Provincial Associations and Affiliated Institutes for information.

—The 1971 A.G.M. and Conference, from Mr. Arnold Faintuck commenting on the Ottawa Chapter's Commitment to full participation in organization of the Conference.

—The Programme for Professional Communication, from Mr. M. V. Jones reporting on his continued exchanges with the Chairmen of both the 1970 and 1971 A.G.M. and Conference Committees, as well as with the Secretaries of the Provincial Associations and Affiliated Institutes.

—The Special Senate Committee on Poverty, from Mr. George Atamanenko, following whose suggestion, Chapters, Associations and Affiliated Institutes have since been reminded, to good effect, of this opportunity for participation.

—A joint T..PI.C./C.M.H.C. Committee meeting to be convened shortly with an agenda including the problems of funding the Standardization of Land Use Coding Study as well as the publication of the Careers in Planning booklet.

—The Programme for Continuing Education, via the Secretary-Treasurer who stated that Mr. Carrothers expected to table a report at the next meeting of Council and from Mr. N. Pearson on U.B.C.'s course on "Statistical Methods and Mathematical Tools" to be publicized in the NEWSLETTER.

—The Atlantic Planners' Institute's 1969 A.G.M. and Conference, from the Secretary-Treasurer reporting on administrative procedures required for implementation of the arrangement between the two Institutes and agreed upon by Council of A.P.I. and the Secretary-Treasurer and the Executive Director of T.P.I.C., in Charlottetown.

—The Research Committee, regrettably in the form of a letter of resignation from Mr. H. Lash whose new duties do not allow him to further direct the Committee's work.

In addition to the above, the agenda included a meeting with the Committee of Canadian Planning Schools' representatives, Messrs. Gertler, Page and Wiesman, at which it was agreed that:

—formal liaison be continued between the Institute and the Committee —Schools and Institute continue to encourage student identity with the Profession.

—Mr. A. Faintuck be appointed to co-operate with the Planning Schools Committee and C.M.H.C. in the 1970 Ottawa Student Seminar.

—That Heads of Planning Schools be asked to co-operate in the award of certificates of distinction.

—That student use of the NEWSLETTER be promoted.

And finally, Council approved leasing of premises for a permanent secretariat. The Institute's new National Headquarters are now located at 80 King Street West, Suite 1507, Toronto 1, Ontario. Telephone: 364-0764

Le Comité de Politique de Publication à Long Terme fut reconsititué sous la présidence de M. B. Wiesman, et comprend maintenant MM. G. Farry et N. Pearson ainsi que MM. G. Hodge, L. Gertler et M. Zides, membres adjoints. M. H. Foerstel fut nommé au Comité de Formation des Techniciens en Urbanisme. M. B. Wiesman, représentant le Comité Canadien d' Ecoles d'Urbanisme, fut nommé au Comité National d'Admission Intérimaire; ce Comité, que préside M. E. Comay, comprend en outre MM. D. Buchanan, G. Hodge, J. Lehrmans et M. Lloyd.

M. G. A. P. Carrothers fit part au Conseil de ce que Mme Jean Milner a deposé aux Archives d'Etudes en Environnement de l'Université d'York la bibliothèque du regretté Jim Milner, ainsi que sa documentation d'une Historie Bibliographique de l'Urbanisme.

Les rapports suivants furent également reçus.

—Nouveau Programme de Colloques Canadiens parrainés par la Foundation Nuffield; transmis aux Associations Provinciales et Instituts Affiliés, pour information.

—A. G. A. et Conference 1971: rapport de M. A. Faintuck confirmant la participation enthousiaste du Chapitre d'Ottawa à l'organisation de cette Conférence.

—Programme de Communication Professionnelle: rapport de M. Jones faisant état d'échanges continus avec les Présidents des Comités des A. G. A. et Conférence, 1970 et 1971, ainsi qu' avec les Secrétaires des Associations Provinciales et Instituts Affiliés.

—Comité conjoint I.U.C./S.C.H.L.: rapport touchant un réunion prochaine de ce comité dont l'ordre du jour doit comporter, entre autres, le financement de l'Etude de l'Uniformisation de la Codification des Usages du Sol ainsi que le financement de la publication du fascicule: "Carriéres en Urbanisme".

—Comité du Programme de Recyclage: information du Secrétaire-Trésorier au sujet du rapport que M. G. A. P. Carrothers doit soumettre au Conseil à sa prochaine réunion, ainsi que de M. N. Pearson au sujet des cours offerts par l'U.B.C. "Statistical Methods and Mathematical Tools", annoncés dans le bulletin de l'Institut.

—A. G. A. et Conférence, 1969, de l'Institut d'Urbanisme des Provinces Atlantiques: rapport du Secrétaire-Trésorier au sujet de l'accord établi entre le Conseil de l'I.U.P.A. et le Secrétaire et le Directeur Exécutif de l'I.U.C. quant aux procédures administratives requises par suite de la ratification de l'entente d'affiliation entre les deux Instituts.

—Comité sur la Recherche: malheureusement sous forme d'une lettre de démission de M. H. Lash dont les nouvelles fonctions ne lui permettent plus de présider aux travaux du Comité.

En plus de ces points, l'ordre du jour comportait également une rencontre du Conseil et du Comité Canadien d'Ecoles d'Urbanisme, representé par MM. Gertler, Page et Wiesman, au cours de laquelle il fut résolu:

—que des rapports formels soient maintenus entre l'Institut et le Comité;

—que les Ecoles et l'Institut encouragent l'identification de l'étudiant à la profession;

—que M. A. Faintuck soit chargé d'assurer la collaboration de l'Institut, du Comité et de la S.C.H.L. au Colloque Etudiant 1970, à Ottawa;

—que les étudiants soient encouragés à se servir du BULLETIN de l'Institut.

Le Conseil approuva également, au cours de cette réunion, le local choisi pour le Secrétariat Permanent. On est prié de prendre note que le siège Social de l'Institut est maintenant situé au 80 ouest rue King, Suite 1507, Toronto 1, Ontario. Telephone 364-0764.

President's Column

A National Posture

No subject has recently received more support in the Institute than the proposition that we should have a position on national issues related to planning. Council has proceeded in three ways; firstly, in responding to the specific requests for briefs. An example of this is the brief prepared by Len Gertler and submitted by the Institute to the Hellier Commission. The second approach has been to request seven regional organizations of the Institute to provide their views on the main issues facing their regions. This is being organized by Murray Jones as co-ordinator of the Program for Professional Communication. The aim is to find those issues which are common across the Nation. The response to this mode of attack has been mixed. The Ottawa Chapter, for example, after discussing the subject at Chapter meetings, prepared a brief giving these views. Most other areas haven't responded. The third level of attack is the utilization of National conferences. The 1969 Conference obtained opinions from across the country on twelve subject areas. An edited and amalgamated over-view has been prepared by Hans Foerstel under the title, "Planning Profile 1969 — An Evaluation". This year's conference will aim at goals for the Canadian environment and continuity will be arranged with the 1971 Ottawa Conference which will likely center around achieving the stated goals. Through this process and not necessarily waiting until 1971 a National opinion can be worked out on many of the broad issues. What the profession says should be neither an emotional outburst or a shower of platitudes. A professional opinion should be founded on work and thought.

Politician-Planner

The fourth estate gave it plenty of ink:
"Cries of outrage from members on the Government side . . . Premier Bennett on his feet demanding that the member make his charges outside the Legislature, . . . " etc. Cause of the "furor" in the current sitting of the B.C. Legislature was a speech by Robert Williams, M.L.A., for Vancouver East who is described in the press story as "a top contender for the leadership of the (Provincial) N.D.P. party." Bob Williams is also a member of this Institute. He persuasively argues the case for inseparability between planning and politics and contends that most planning goals can only be achieved through political action. What is it like wearing at one time the hats of professional planner and professional politician? Perhaps Bob Williams is the only member who can answer. Should there be more politician-planners? Should all the seats be filled by lawyers and businessmen?

Internationalism

Council will at its next meeting be considering a U.K. proposal for the creation of a Commonwealth Association of Planners. Looking at this question has prompted me to think about the wider subject of internationalism in planning. I get the impression that relative to other professions and disciplines International exchanges of ideas and information are lacking among planners; and by "international" I don't mean that exaggerated adjective which describes U.S.-Canadian co-operation. One is continually hearing of symposia or conferences on scientific subjects with free exchanges between representatives of many countries. Perhaps the size of the planning profession and the nature of planning itself inhibits internationalism. Is it a lack of planning research teams or sources, of funds, or just a lack of conviction by governments and professional organizations that international get togethers could be fruitful.

Random Thought — Should planners play monopoly?

CONTINUING PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION FOR COMMUNITY & REGIONAL PLANNERS, sponsored by THE SCHOOL OF COMMUNITY AND REGIONAL PLANNING and the EXTENSION DEPARTMENT, The University of British Columbia

Preliminary Announcement

QUANTITATIVE METHODS IN PLANNING PRACTICE
UA800

DESCRIPTION OF COURSE

This is a NEW TECHNICAL COURSE designed to provide an overview of statistical and mathematical tools applied to urban and regional planning. The course will explain these methods using illustrative examples from the field of community planning. The participants will be given an opportunity to discuss the application of the techniques taught in the course to the problems with which they are conversant. Printed output from canned statistical and mathematical computer programs will be used extensively to stress formulation of problems and interpretation of results, more than the mechanics of computation. Topics covered will include multivariate statistical tools such as regression, factor analysis and discriminant analysis tools including input-output, linear programming and cost-benefit.

T. P. I. C. SURVEY OF MEMBERS - 1968
THE TOWN PLANNING INSTITUTE OF CANADA
80 KING STREET WEST, SUITE 1507, TORONTO 1, ONTARIO

THE TYPICAL CANADIAN PLANNER

A Fable *

The Typical Canadian Planner is alive and well and living in Ontario. 1 makes his home in an urban centre of over one million people. 2

He 1

TCP's education includes a Master's degree in planning 3

from a Canadian University 4 and 6 and an undergraduate major in geography. 5 and 7

He works in a city planning office and has some contact with 8 planning consultants, planners employed by other governments, and 9 a few professors who have Ph.D.'s in planning. 10

Occasionally, TCP pauses to consider his income as a planner. He knows that $10,000 - 15,000 annually is not unusual as a planner's income in Canada, 11 and that the average in 1968 was $15,100. 12

TCP is also aware that the average income is $16,300 for a planner with a Master's degree in planning, at an average age of 37 (his own age). 13

In comparison, his own salary range of $10,000 - 12,500 seems low, 14

even though he can anticipate earning about $15,000 by the time he is 40. He makes a mental note that he could earn more as a municipal planner in Quebec or, without speaking French, as a planning consultant in Ontario. 15

Once the possibility of making a change had come to mind, TCP realized that he had been in the same planning office for the past 5 years 16 and it wouldn't be difficult to change, as Ontario draws graduates from all planning schools in Canada. 17

He wondered what his future would be. He would probably continue in government service, but might consider moving to another municipal office 18

Just then a student phoned to enquire about the relative merits of various planning schools. TCP didn't mention that planners often work in the region where they graduate, 19 but he did ask the student whether he wanted to be a planning professor, consultant or civil servant. Irrelevant? Not at all! The T.P.I.C. Survey of Members indicates that McGill produces planning consultants and that UBC planning graduates are never university professors. 20

* The fable is based on information obtained in a Survey of T.P.I.C. Members. TCP is a composite, whose traits are drawn from Tables 1-20, to which the numbers refer.

The majority of the latter do not appear on the T.P.I.C. list of Degrees and Diplomas Recognized for Purposes of Membership in T.P.I.C.

2 A diploma in planning is treated as a higher degree than a Bachelor's degree in another discipline.

3 Two members (66%) with a Doctorate in a subject other than planning also have a planning diploma.

4 Eight members (53%) with a Master's degree in a subject other than planning also have a planning diploma.

Consequently, the total number of degrees and diplomas awarded by Canadian planning schools as shown in Table 6 (152) is 10 larger than the number shown in Tables 4 and 5 (142).

2 Includes planning schools in Canada granting degrees and diplomas recognized by T.P.I.C. All degrees are at the Master's level.

3 The Diploma in Town and Regional Planning from the University of Toronto was recognized by T.P.I.C. until June, 1968.

4 The M.A. with Planning Option from McGill University was recognized by T.P.I.C. until June, 1968. Although these degrees are in a discipline related to planning, they are included throughout this analysis under "planning degrees".
